A NOTABLE WEDDING AT ST. DAVID'S CHURCH YESTERDAY MORNING.

Yesterday morning saw St. David's church filled with a brilliant concourse of Austin's society, which had there assembled to witness the marriage of Miss Mary Anderson and Mr. Walter Bremond. As both of the contracting parties were great favorites in Austin, the event has been looked forward to with much interest by every one. The time set for the ceremony was 9:30, and shortly after that time the organist (Mrs. Crooker) began the Wedding March, from Wagner's "Lohengrin," and the wedding party filed slowly up the right-hand aisle of the church, in the following order:

Messrs. T. W. Gregory and Randolph Bremond, two of the ushers; following them, the groom and the bride's mother, and then the bride, leaning on the arm of Judge A. W. Terrell, her step-father; followed in turn by the other two ushers, Mr. Eugene Robinson and Capt. Rice.

was performed by Rev. T. B. Lee, rector of the church, and while he read the simple but beautiful marriage service of the Episcopal church, the organ softly breathed out the "Wedding Chimes." After receiving the blessings and congratulations of the pastor, the bridal party marched slowly down the left aisle, while the joyful strains of the Wedding March, from Tannhauser, filled and echoed through the church.

The bride was a picture of beauty. No fairer, sweeter face ever left an Austin church a bride. She was befittingly and tastefully dressed in a traveling costume of light tan colored satin, with a turban bonnet to match, and carried a bouquet of natural flowers. The groom wore a Prince Albert suit of black. The ushers wore business suits, the only distinction being their tan colored gloves and white ties.

From the church the happy couple were driven direct to the International and Great Northern railway depot, where they took the 11:30 train for an extended tour north, Waukesha being their final stopping place, where they will spend the remainder of the summer months. As there was no reception, the presents which were rich and numerous were not displayed, and a description cannot be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Bremond carry with them the best wishes of a host of friends, with whom the STATESMAN heartily joins.

Austin. Bank directors included his father, Eugene Bremond, who was president of the bank; his brother-in-law, Lewis Hancock, who was vice-president of the bank; his uncle, John H. Robinson Jr., who was married to his aunt Madeline Bremond; and another uncle, John Bremond.<sup>59</sup> Walter was president of the State National Bank for over 20 years. The State National Bank was incorporated in 1882 and had its origins in his father's "Bremond's Bank" that began operating out of a back room of John Bremond & Company.<sup>60</sup> Walter was widely known in national as well as Texas banking circles and was considered one of the leading authorities in the state on banking affairs and economic matters.<sup>61</sup> He was treasurer of the executive committee of the Texas Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor.

In Jul 1893, Walter and Mary traveled to Europe and to Turkey where Mary's father was US Minister to Turkey. Walter served as private secretary to Terrell while he was in Turkey. The four-month visit to Constantinople gave Walter and Mary a close up view on the Armenian revolution in Turkey and he publicly defended his father-in-law when Minister Terrell came under attack. Walter wrote several letters to local papers, including the one below:

I have just received a copy of The Statesman containing a clipping from the Chicago Herald which consists of an interview with Mr. W. B. Hess, (an appointee of President Harrison) late consul general at Constantinople, reflecting on our distinguished fellow townsman, Hon. A. W. Terrell. During Anderson, who died in 1871, was a planter on the Brazos River and a grand master of the Masonic brotherhood. Mamie and her sisters; Atilla "Sissie", Bessie, and Annie; grew up in Austin.<sup>57</sup> At the time of the wedding, Mary's mother, a widow, was married to Judge Alexander W. Terrell<sup>58</sup> and her sister married Louis Hancock who became mayor of Austin. T. W. Gregory, Randolph Bremond, Eugene Robinson and Capt. Rice all served as ushers in the ceremony. The couple had no wedding reception but left immediately following the wedding from the International and Great Northern railway depot for an extended tour north, ultimately ending at Waukesha, Wisconsin as the final stop.

For a wedding present, Walter's father, Eugene Bremond, hired local builder, George Fiegel, to remodel the house at 711 San Antonio, adding one and a half stories to the stone house transforming it into a fashionable Second Empire home. Walter and Mary joined other family members on the Bremond Block in downtown Austin.

Walter joined the family in business as well. In 1902 he was assistant cashier and director of the State National Bank of my recent visit to Constantinople, extending through several months, I had an opportunity of learning something of the matters discussed as well as making the acquaintance of Mr. Hess. To one who has enjoyed the latter privilege it is rather surprising to hear him described as "a lawyer bristling with facts and figures and expressing himself in vigorous and outspoken terms." If his statement had been absolutely correct his action could only be described as an outrageous violation of every requirement of courtesy and common decency. It may be remembered that he was for a time a member of Judge Terrell's staff and that what he knew of his relations with the porte, he knew as a member of his official family. If he differed with Judge Terrell nobody ever heard of it; if he had any "policy," or entertained "views," nobody ever suspected it. It must not be inferred that his statement of Judge Terrell's position is in any sense correct. The situation in Turkey is not easily explained in a few words.

The Turks complain, not perhaps without good reason, that many natives become naturalized, with no intention of becoming citizens in good faith, but merely in order to carry on their revolutionary movements, under the protection of an American flag. This is an old source of trouble, and has for many years made our American missionaries the object of unjust suspicion, and subjected them to numerous annoyances, although they have repeatedly declared that they have neither connection nor sympathy with these movements, and are at great pain to keep themselves and their institutions aloof from them. Judge Terrell has given to his mission that earnest and conscientious attention which has always characterized his public services, and if his views differ from those of his predecessors in office, it is only in that he wishes to see the vexed question settled upon some fair and permanent basis. All who understand the situation recognize the difficulties which surround him, and all who know the history of recent events appreciate the value of his work. Among Americans and in diplomatic circles he is honored, as he is at home, as a strong and able man, a thorough and typical American, and Austin may well feel proud that she has been able to furnish the national government with so creditable a representative. I write these lines because it seems proper that his home friends should know what estimate to

Exact Funeral Hour to Be Announced Later.

Funeral services for Walter Bremond Sr., 60, president of the State National bank, who died Saturday morning, will be conducted Monday morning with Bishop George H. Kinsolving of the Episcopal diocese of Texas and Rev. Valentine Lee, rector of St. David's church, officiating. Pending arrival of relatives expected Sunday from distant points, exact hour of the funeral services has not been formally announced. Hour will be made known for Monday morning publication. It was announced at the Bremond home by Walter Bremond Jr.

Widely Known in Texas.

Mr. Bremond's death Saturday came as a shock to his many friends. He was widely known in national as well as Texas banking circles and was considered one of the leading authorities in the state on banking affairs and economic matters. For approximately 20 years he had been president of the State National bank, which is the oldest financial institution in Austin and in central Texas, growing from the private banking house established here nearly 100 years ago by the Bremonds when they settled here at the founding of Austin.

Graduate of Sewanee.

Mr. Bremond was a graduate of Sewanee university, where he was rated a brilliant thinker. He was a long member of St. David's Episcopal church and vestryman of his parish.

Relatives surviving him are his widow, one son, Walter Bremond Jr., daughter, Mrs. Carl D. Matz of Kansas City, Mo.; two brothers, Eugene Bremond Jr. and Pierre Bremond of Austin, and two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Steiner of Austin and Mrs. Alfred Carr of St. Louis, Mo.

place on those absurd charges and the man who makes them. Mr. Hess, who is a thoroughly insignificant and common place individual, was regarded as a perfect nonentity. It is apparent that, flattered by attentions to which he was little used in Constantinople, he lent himself to the purposes of some enterprising reporter, for his absolute lack of ideas and scant knowledge of the English language precludes the possibility of the matter of this interview having originated with himself. Respectfully,

Walter Bremond.<sup>62</sup>

Tragedy struck the Bremond family on 2 May 1896 when Mary's niece, Louise Hancock daughter of Mayor and Mrs. Lewis Hancock, drowned in Barton's creek while on a family picnic with Walter, Mary, and their children. Louise, 13 years old, was swinging on a grapevine when the vine broke and she fell into the water.<sup>63</sup>

Mary and Walter had three children: Mary Eugene Bremond born 1887, Anne Bremond born 28 Aug 1894, and Walter Bremond II born 24 Feb 1897. Mary Eugene died of diphtheria at age 4. Anne and Walter were born after their parents' trip to Turkey.

Walter was a lifelong member of the St. David's Episcopal Church and vestryman of his parish. He was a charter member of the Texas Whist Club and served, fittingly, as treasurer of the group.<sup>64</sup> Walter died 10 Jan 1925 at the age of 60 and is buried in Oakwood Cemetery. At the time of his death he was president of the state National Bank. Bishop George H. Kinsolving of the Episcopal diocese of Texas and Rev. Valentine Lee, rector of St. David's church, officiated at the funeral.

Mamie became very active in the cultural and social life of Austin after the death of her husband. She was for many years a member of the Open Forum, a women's club, and also an active member of the St. David's Episcopal Church. She traveled often in this country and abroad. She spent many summers at the Athenaeum Hotel in Chautauqua, New York. She always cared about her appearance and was meticulous in her wardrobe. She lived all her life in the family home on San Antonio Street on the Bremond Block, dying from complications of a broken hip.<sup>65</sup> Mary died 6 May 1951 at the age of 84 in Austin and was buried 8 May 1951 in Oakwood Cemetery, Austin, Texas.

Bremond Funeral Set For Tuesday

Private funeral services will be held Tuesday at 5 p. m. for Mrs. Walter Bremond, member of one of Austin's oldest families, who died Sunday at her home, 709 San Antonio Street, following a protracted illness.

The Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, coadjutor bishop of the Diocese of Texas, Episcopal Church, will officiate at the services to be held at the residence. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Bremond was the widow of Walter Bremond, president of the old State National Bank of Austin and the mother of Walter Bremond Jr., president of the Capital National Bank in Austin. Before her marriage she was Miss Mary Anderson of Austin.

She was a lifelong member of St. David's Episcopal Church and was actively identified for many years with the cultural and social life of the city.

Besides her son, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Carl D. Matz of Kansas City, Mo., and two grandchildren, Miss Carol Matz and Walter Bremond III.

During World War I, Anne met Captain Carl Dusenbury Matz of Chicago, Illinois when he was stationed at Austin at the United States School of Military Aeronautics. She married Captain Matz on 5 Oct 1918 in Saint David's Episcopal Church in Austin. Carl was born 17 Jul 1887 in Hoosick Falls, Rensselaer

Following law school, Carl began practicing law with Dickinson & Matz in Chicago.<sup>3</sup> He entered Officers' Training Camp at Fort Sheridan, Illinois in May 1917 and was discharged for a physical disability on 3 Jul 1917. He did not give up his quest for a military life and was commissioned 1st lieutenant in the Signal Corps on 16 Oct 1917. He was detailed to the School of Military Aeronautics at the University of Texas on 19 Oct. He was designated post adjutant and promoted to captain Air Service, Military Aeronautics on 27 Sep 1918. He was appointed commandant of the School of Military Aeronautics and was finally discharged 20 Mar 1919.<sup>4</sup>

Following their marriage, the couple made their home in Austin at the Slaughter home in Aldridge Place. Within a year of her wedding Anne fell gravely ill and almost died of typhoid fever. She reported an out-of-body near-death experience, very like those of others in similar circumstances. She saw a long tunnel with light at the end and her grandfather waiting. She also saw, from above, the doctor and her family around her bed. The marriage of a cousin was moved up and made a smaller affair because Anne was expected to die at any moment. recovered but spent the early years of her marriage because the high fever had caused her to lose her

After Anne recovered from her illness and Carl completed his military service, the young couple moved to Hubbard Woods, Illinois where Carl resumed his law practice. After a year they moved to Washington, D.C. and lived at the Shoreham Hotel while Carl did tax work for the government. In 1921 Carl joined the firm of Baker, Botts, Parker and Garwood of Houston and Kansas City, where he represented the Long-Bell Lumber Company. The firm brought Anne and Carl to Kansas City and Carl tried a case for the firm before the U.S. Supreme Court. Carl later became of member of the law firm Langworthy, Spencer, Terrell and Matz. In 1939 Carl formed the firm of Langworthy, Matz and Linde, where his specialties were taxation, corporate, and estate cases. He was a partner in this firm until his death in 1950.<sup>6</sup>

When Carl and Anne moved to Kansas City in 1921, they first lived at the Hotel Woodlea, an old-fashioned resident hotel near the Kansas City Life Insurance company. In 1925 they bought a newly finished house at 6201 Summit Street for $17,000. On 20 Jun 1929 their daughter, Carol Matz was born.<sup>7</sup>

Anne and Carl Matz made respected places for themselves in Kansas City. They were both active at Grace and Holy Trinity Episcopal Cathedral, where most of their early friendships were formed. Anne sang in the choir and for many years served on the altar guild of the cathedral. Carl served many terms as a member of the vestry of the cathedral and was also on the board of St. Luke's Hospital, the Chamber of Commerce, and various bar associations. Anne was president of St. Luke's Hospital auxiliary, president of the board of the George Nettleton home for needy women, and a member of the Visiting Nurses Association.

Carl died on 14 Feb 1950 of heart failure. His funeral was at Grace and Holy Trinity Cathedral in Kansas City and he is buried in Chestnut Hill cemetery, Portville, Cattaraugus County, New York where many generations of his Dusenbury family are buried. Anne died on 19 Apr 1990. Her memorial service was in the chapel of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Kansas City, conducted by the chaplain who was her daughter's best friend since high school, with a poem read by her six year old great-grandson, Charles Leifer.

Anne's grandson, David Loyd Owen, wrote of his grandmother:

*My other grandmother, a forbidding widow who had grown up in a fancy family in Austin, Texas, wasn't the kind of person to whom children easily give a cosy nickname – although she and I got along well and, when she was in her eighties and I was in college, we sometimes had cocktails in her living room at nine or ten in the morning.
